“We've got a world-class address – we don't need to explain more than once to our clients where we will be meeting them. They're in a good mood before the meeting's even started because of the location and it's the same for our team when we use the meeting rooms in the Innovation Centre for a get together on strategy. Plus there are break-out areas, the internet is solid, the staff are friendly and we're looked after.”
